DECLARATION OF HOWARD R. TEICHER

1. In December 1994, I was retained by attorneys for Teledyne Corporation as an expert consultant on U.S. policy in the Middle East, specifically Iraq, and how the national security decision-making process operates.

2. On January 31, 1995, the attorneys for Teledyne prepared and faxed me a declaration, which I signed. This declaration was filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida the next day.

3. Shortly after this declaration was filed, I carefully reviewed it and determined that several statements were inaccurate or were overly broad. I would now like to clarify some of the statements I made in paragraphs 15 through 17.

4. My understanding in signing the declaration was that I was providing information that was based partially on my knowledge and partially on my beliefs. I did not intend these statements to be categorical statements of fact. Because I now understand that they are being interpreted this way, I want to correct the record.

5. Specifically, in paragraphs 15 through 18, there are references to my files and what they "will contain." At the time I signed this declaration, I believed that my files, files to which I had access, or documents I had seen, might contain information relevant to Carlos Cardoen and the manufacture of cluster bombs. I did not review or index my files, or otherwise determine what they contained, when I resigned from the NSC staff and have not seen most of my files since I left government service in 1987. I was not certain what documents were there and was operating from my best memory and belief. I do not have actual knowledge that these files contain such information.

6. In addition, paragraphs 15 through 18 refer to United States assistance in Cardoen's manufacture and sale of munitions to Iraq. Although I was aware that Cardoen was involved in such sales, I am not aware of any specific evidence that the United States government or any government official or agency took steps to help Cardoen obtain any U.S.-origin components for use in cluster bombs. I also am not aware of any specific evidence that the United States government or any government official or agency in any other way helped Cardoen supply munitions to Iraq.

7. Finally, paragraph 17 of my declaration mentions an arrest of Cardoen. I am now aware that, although I understood Cardoen had been arrested, the other information in this paragraph is incorrect.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Date: October 31, 1996

HOWARD R. TEICHER
